with a new afterword on the current state of the stock market the ongoing debate over the new economy and the larger implications of irrational exuberance in this controversial hard hitting account of today's explosive market Robert J Shiller a leading expert on market volatility evokes Alan Greenspan's infamous 1996 reference irrational exuberance to explain the alternately soaring and declining stock market Shiller's unconventional yet persuasive argument credits an unprecedented confluence of events with driving stocks to uncharted heights and he analyzes the structural cultural and psychological factors behind these levels of growth not reflected in any other sector of the economy now more relevant than ever this analysis is both chilling and convincing a must read for the individual investor the policy maker and the investment professional this book covers the perennial debates of Canadian politics in a way that will appeal to both the layperson and the introductory student each topic is addressed in three ways first an introduction to the essential terms and history of the issue second an affirmative response to the question and third a negative response the book can supplement the normal structures and institutions approach to Canadian politics it can also stand alone for those who want to be informed on the issues that matter most to many Canadians today as Dunn argues in the introduction the most informed reader may be the one who considers both sides of the arguments with a healthy scepticism in the public agenda students are introduced to six relevant and specific policy issues the economy education health care terrorism international affairs the criminal justice system and civil and minority rights and learn how to address them succinct yet detailed enough to spur classroom discussion and debate the public agenda inspires students of public policy and American government as the authors analyze several differing views of each issue and challenge students to evaluate whether possible solutions adequately meet the public's needs
