the book by abjar bakhou presents medieval christian author gerasimus and his discussion with islam his aim was to show that christian teachings are not irrational but rather subtle and complex as a christian philosopher and theologian gerasimus used the experiences of those of the past to facilitate his own response to critics however two important differences separated him from earlier apologists which demand his own insight and innovation first the new language of intellectual discourse was arabic which was not accommodating for expressing traditional christian doctrine and required the development of a vocabulary out of terms already heavily influenced by the qur'anic worldview second the new religion challenging christianity was one of absolute monotheism which shared neither a common scriptural nor cultural heritage and rejected the very possibility of a trinity and incarnation although a common theme in early christian apologetics was the refutation of judaism the debate generally centered on the interpretation of the old testament showing that jesus was indeed the messiah the qur'an while acknowledging jesus as the messiah explicitly rejects the christian doctrines of the incarnation and the trinity and presents itself as the revelation which supersedes all previous revelation thus although christians and muslims share certain themes and figures such as creation and the last judgement abraham mooses mary and jesus muslims refuse evidence contrary to the qur'an leaving christians without recourse to traditional scripture based arguments gerasimus as a christian apologist and mutakallim accepted these challenges and began the process of explaining and translating his faith in the new milieu to make it coherent and rational in his treatise gerasimus reveals himself to be a full participant in this important period of intellectual history he sets down the basic points of controversy and outlines a response to them in a form that would be an excellent introduction to christian theology written for the muslim environment gerasimus was also a mutakallim in his own right the christian counterpart to those islamic scholars who sought to defend their faith through rational arguments in an effort to argue the legitimacy of christianity gerasimus attempts to create a common language that influences the meaning of terminology and concepts of intellectual development in muslim christian debates such language would set the stage for centuries to come this is certainly his greatest contribution when in 1550 andreas osiander 1498-1552 advocated a different understanding of the central lutheran doctrine of justification by faith alone most other lutheran churches in germany rejected his stance producing nearly one hundred opposing tracts timothy j wengert examines these reactions as a way of describing the theological side of confessionalization in lutheran lands back of dust jacket when defending the faith it is not sufficient to merely go after a few surface issues the real battle goes much deeper the defender of the historic christian faith must blast deep into the foundations of the enemy's worldview by exposing and destroying his presuppositions the battle for truth cannot be won apart from destroying the false presuppositions held by those who reject the gospel is it still possible in an age of religious and cultural pluralism to engage in christian apologetics how can one urge one's faith on others when such a gesture is typically regarded with suspicion if not outright resentment in humble apologetics john g stackhouse brings his wide experience as a historian philosopher journalist and theologian to these important questions and offers surprising and reassuring answers stackhouse begins by acknowledging the real impediments to christian testimony in north america today and to other faiths in modern societies around the world he shows how pluralism postmodernism skepticism and a host of other factors create a cultural milieu resistant to the christian message and he shows how the arrogance or dogmatism of apologists themselves can alienate rather than attract potential converts indeed stackhouse argues that the crucial experience of conversion cannot be compelled all the apologist can do is lead another to the point where an actual encounter with jesus can take place finally he shows how displaying an attitude of humility instead of merely trying to win religious arguments will help believers offer their neighbors the gift of christ's love drawing on the author's personal experience and written with an engaging directness and an unassuming nature humble apologetics provides sound guidance on how to share christian faith in a postmodern world

how do you know that there is a god how do you answer someone who says that truth doesn t exist what do you do when someone asks you how you know that christianity is the right religion if you are like many people the only answer you can offer is well i just have faith but to a world that wants to know if god is real this is not a good enough answer christians must be ready to give a reason a good reason for their hope in jesus and their lives must be a holy reflection of their message in relational apologetics Michael C. Sherrard seeks to help christians do just that become holy people that defend christianity both in word and deed using stories and drawing upon personal experiences Sherrard teaches the importance of personal holiness treating skeptics with respect engaging in authentic conversations instead of shouting matches and having well thought out answers to the skeptic s questions in the process you ll learn that defending christianity is as much about who you are and what you do as it is what you say and you will find that your life is intended to be an apologetic for god and a light for men to find him
